The New York Life has issued over 140,000 poll cles, insuring over $420,000,000. It has received over $85,000,000 in premiums and nearly $25,000,000 in interest and rents. It has puld over $20,000,000 in death-claims, and returned over $31,000,000 to living policyholders. The amount of its present assets, plus its payments to policyholders and their families, equeeds the sun received from them by nearly six million dollars. . A Well-Managed Company.

Its management was never more vigorous, skill-ful, and prudent than at present. Its report for the year ending January 1st, 1880, shows almost unparalieled prosperity—a large increase in assets; a large increase in surplus: a large increase in interest receipts; a large increase in poleties and insurance, issued and in force; and a decrease in distance, issued and in force; and a decrease in distance.

A Company with A No. 1 Securities. The securities of the New York Life are of the very highest order, the interest on which is collected when daw. The entire amount of its nucollected interest, including the amount accrued or carned but not yet due, upon its investments January 1st, 1880, was but $317,999.11. This was only about eight-tenths of one per cent, of the Company's entire assets, being the lowest ratio of any prominent company and is notable contrast with some. At the date above given its bonds and stocks were worth nearly a million dollars more than cost.

D. A Prudent Company.

In estimating its liabilities the Company employs In estimating its liabilities the Company employs the severest standard used in this country. Security being the sins qua non in life insurance, the New York Life calculates its reserve fund on the supposition that it will be able to realize in future but four per cent. interest; and thus keeps this fund over four million dollars larger than is required by the law by which its solvency is tested. Hence, no unusual losses, no sudden depression in the prices of securities, no panic, no hard times, nor all of these combined can so reduce its surplus as seriously to embarrass the Company.

10. A Good Company to Insura in. The policies of the New York Life are notable or their freedom from vexatious restrictions; the customs of the Company with respect to payment of premiums, etc., are plainly stated, and efforts are made to encourage and to enable everyhonest policyholder to keep up his policy; in the settlement of claims by death the greatest liberality consistent with justice is ever shown, as the grateful acknowledgements of hundreds of beneficis ries abundantly testify. By its liberal construc-tion of the policy contract in cases that might have been resisted on technical grounds it has gained
